

Learning for Life Partnership 2026

The Smith Family are a national, independent children's education charity that helps disadvantaged young Australians to succeed at school, so that they can create better futures for themselves. Our success is measured on:

- School attendance: demonstrate a strong commitment and engagement to education.
- Advancement: completion of Year 12 or equivalent.
- Engagement: post school engagement in education or work.

What is Learning for Life?

The Smith Family's Learning for Life program provides long-term targeted support that begins early in a child's life and continues throughout their education.

The program provides families and students with a combination of financial and personal support, as well as access to evidence based learning programs that help them keep up and stay motivated throughout their educational journey.

Our work is underpinned by research and evidence-based practice, enabling us to be innovative, responsive and relevant. It ensures we develop and deliver programs and support that respond effectively and efficiently to the needs of the children, young people, families, partner schools and the communities where we work.

We track the progress of students receiving Learning for Life support against four longer-term outcomes:

- school attendance
- completion of Year 12 or its equivalent
- continuation through and completion of tertiary studies and
- post-school engagement in education, training or work.

We also assess the short-term outcomes of our programs, as these help to put children on the path to reaching the four longer-term goals.

Financial support to pay for school essentials,
like uniforms, books
and excursions

Personal support for the child and their family from a Family Partnership Coordinator

Practical support through access to our additional learning and mentoring programs, tailored to each child's needs
